God-like Developer

Feel free to elaborate -

A developer with strong 7 advanced skills, tabs, who wants to easily add Calendar, Contacts, basic Project Management and Invoicing to an application.

Q. General description of the product and its general purpose

In your own words

The Calendar with Contacts, simple Project tracking and Invoicing is easily integrated with other applications. It lacks Accounts Receivable for aging and receipts but has very simple and nice format printouts and layouts. You can easily import Ical and Vcard files along the way.

Q. How did you test the product

Tell us how you did or would use this as a solution.

Installed and ran through all the features. Then I looked at the layouts one at a time viewing the scripts for buttons and other controls. Everything was extremely easy to understand with simple well-documented code. I then added some fields, tabs, and tables. The relations were easily viewed and updated for adding new data formats. Finally, I modified an existing table.

Q. Did you have to contact the company for support with the product

Q. Detail the advantages and disadvantages of this product in its intended uses.

OK, this is where you really get to put out the praise and dish the dirt on the product. Your words could help others with a purchase decision.

Advantages:

Simple and usable contact manager with upgradeable design, perfect for businesses need projects tracking with phases, activities (tasks) and ToDo's. Very easy to use interface.

Technical simple to integrate with an existing application.

Disadvantages:

Interface may not match an existing application and would require some cosmetic rework.

Q. Briefly describe your overall experience with this product. Tell us your opinion, soup to nuts.

[The following are examples of topic discussions; you may elaborate further if you choose.]

What was the overall value of this product?

What is its price-value comparison?

Undervalued

Priced right

Out of the ballpark

Did it perform as described?

Highs & lows / Best and Worst

The overall value of this product is for the developer desiring to add an easy and workable contact management feature that allows for project management. It includes a nice Gannt Chart and tasks along with ToDo's.

I am not sure about the performance when fully loaded with data but it ran very smooth during my testing.

It is priced reasonably and allows for site or developer licensing for under $600.

I have looked at other providing code and it is clearly one of the best.

I found no errors during testing.

Q. Additional Features

Please let us know of any features you'd have liked to see in the software

I would like to see a quote function that can be converted to the invoice. Also I think it would be nice if you could add contacts to an existing contact. As it is you must add them as a contact and then assign them to the same company. Associating multiple contacts by other than a company would make it very powerful.
